SMARTBOX of Chicago Pitches In for Bin Donated

Portable Storage and Moving Company Provides Money and In-Kind Services For One of Chicago's Newest Charities

SMARTBOX of Chicago is pitching in to help Bin Donated, a newly formed charity that collects donated items like non-perishable food, toiletries, books and school supplies and distributes them to charitable organizations throughout the city for distribution to those in need. "At SMARTBOX of Chicago we are committed to helping area charities, especially in these tough economic times," said Gregory Kaufman, SMARTBOX of Chicago President. "Bin Donated is the first recipient of our 2010 charitable giving campaign. We are committing 10 percent of our May, June and July new-business revenue to Bin Donated, which shares our passion for helping those in need and is such a great fit with our company."

"As Chicago's largest provider of eight-foot, portable storage and moving container solutions, our services will be a perfect fit for Bin Donated. We are proud to share a portion of our revenue this year with such a great group and wish them success as they work to help others," said Kaufman. Greg Kaufman and his partner Lee Bolnick, the Chief Executive Officer, are co-owners of the SMARTBOX of Chicago franchise, a leading Chicago area provider of portable storage and moving solutions. SMARTBOX of Chicago was founded in 2007 and is located in a 76,000 square foot storage facility in Melrose Park, IL. As part of its work with Bin Donated, SMARTBOX of Chicago will also be providing eight foot portable storage units in support of various Bin Donated events and charitable efforts throughout 2010.

"Bin Donated makes donation a part of everyone's everyday," said it's founder, Judson Kunnucan. "Our 501(c)3 organization provides a free residential and commercial donation pick-up service that collects and distributes donated items to existing charities. We make it easy for people to donate by placing 55 gallon barrels in areas where they live, work, exercise, shop and worship. In fact, our slogan is gone for good."

About Bin Donated

Bin Donated is a non-profit organization that places 55 gallon donation barrels in residential, commercial and other buildings in Chicago – making it easy and convenient for people to donate non-perishable food, toiletries, school supplies and other items to help those in need. Once the barrels are filled, Bin Donated picks them up and brings them to organizations that serve school children, families, the homeless and others. More information about Bin Donated, which was founded by Judson Kinnucan in 2009, can be found at www.bindonated.org.
