SMARTBOX Portable Storage of Denver Joins the Martino Troubleshooter Network

DENVER, CO, October 21, 2009 - SMARTBOX Portable Storage of Denver, a provider of portable storage and moving solutions along the front range of Colorado, announced that they had become a member of the exclusive referral list provided by consumer advocate Tom Martino (www.troubleshooter.com.) SMARTBOX Portable Storage of Denver offers individuals and businesses an affordable and convenient solution that helps reduce stress when it comes to moving and storage. SMARTBOX will deliver as many boxes as the customer needs, which they can then pack and load at their leisure. Once the box is packed the customer simply calls the SMARTBOX office and they will return to either bring the customer's belongings back to their secure, temperature controlled storage facility or deliver them to a new address. In addition to local moving and storage, SMARTBOX also offers long distance moving solutions through their national network.

"We are thrilled to be a part of the Troubleshooter Network as the sole provider of portable storage on the networks' referral list", said Tom Wilcox, president of SMARTBOX Portable Storage of Denver. "The Troubleshooter Network and the Referral List have been synonymous with high quality customer service and attention to detail in Colorado for years. These are the same exacting standards that we hold ourselves to at SMARTBOX Portable Storage of Denver, and for that reason this is an ideal partnership. We know that the Referral List is a trusted place where people go when choosing a vendor for their personal or business life, which is why we are excited to be included." Mr. Wilcox wants SMARTBOX Portable Storage of Denver to be the number one, most trusted portable storage and moving resource along the Front Range and being a part of the Tom Martino Network is key to fulfilling that goal.
